Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Pursuant to a congressional request, GAO reviewed the Department of Defense s (DOD) policy of excluding homosexuals from serving in the armed forces. GAO found that: (1) between 1980 and 1990, DOD discharged about 17,000 service members under the separation category of homosexuality; (2) most of those discharged for homosexuality were white male enlisted personnel; (3) some groups were consistently discharged for homosexuality at a rate higher than their representation in the total active force or individual service; (4) the Navy accounted for 51 percent of the discharges; (5) in fiscal year 1990, the estimated cost of replacing personnel discharged for homosexuality was about $28,000 for each enlisted person and about $121,000 for each officer; (6) the services investigative agencies could not provide specific information on the costs of investigations of alleged cases of homosexuality; (7) DOD and the services have conducted two major studies on the subject of whether homosexuals pose a heightened security risk, and both studies concluded that they did not; (8) a number of medical organizations disagree with the DOD policy of excluding homosexuals from service; (9) public attitudes about homosexuality appear to be changing, with more Americans favoring the inclusion of homosexuals in the armed forces; (10) many police and fire departments have adopted policies prohibiting discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation; and (11) 4 of the 17 countries GAO examined have policies designed to exclude homosexuals from military service, but some of the remaining countries have policies requiring separation if an individual s behavior is found to be disruptive.
