

Patton's Peers: The Forgotten Allied Field Army Commanders of the Western Front, 1944-45

By English, John A.

Stackpole Books, U.S.A., 2009. Hardcover. Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. 1st Edition. Through the force of his personality and the headline-grabbing advance of his U.S. Third Army, Gen. George S. Patton has eclipsed the other six men who also led Allied field armies in the epic campaign to liberate Northwest Europe in 1944-1945. Certain to rank among the essential works of World War II history, Patton's Peers sheds long-overdue light on the contributions of these forgotten army commanders from Canada, Great Britain, the United States, and France while authoritatively retelling the eleven-month struggle from D-Day to Germany's surrender. Harry Crerar: Commanded the First Canadian Army in the liberation of the Channel ports, but illness kept him out of the battle to open the Scheldt Estuary, one of Canada's greatest contributions to Allied victory. Miles Dempsey: The youngest, but longest continuously, serving Allied army commander on the Western Front, led his British Second Army from Normandy to the Baltic -- including a 300-mile, ten-day dash from Falaise to Brussels. Courtney Hodges: Was criticized for his performance in the Huertgen Forest and the Battle of the Bulge, where the Germans bloodied his U.S. First Army, but restored his reputation with the...
