This question of financial prudence and control was one of the chief issues at the Elections in March, 1907. Financial Control. The policy of the Progressive Party has been, and is, in relation to finance to embark upon schemes costing millions of money without any proper control or co-ordination of expenditure by the Councils Finance Committee, and without any adequate system of audit showing profit and loss, and, in addition, to risk the ratepayers money on unremunerative municipal enterprises. The policy of the Municipal Reformers has been, and will be, to secure more effective control over the whole expenditure and commitments of the Council; to see that the charge upon the rates for necessary improvements is spread over a number of years; and that improvements are undertaken - as by private owners - only when they can be afforded.
