FBC LTD, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Aquarium, Vol. 3: A Quarterly Magazine for the Acclimatization of Animals and Plants; October, 1892 When you have removed a cad from his case, if you throw him into an aqua rium tank you will learn in an instant what is the use Of his case, for his soft nakedness is no sooner exposed, than the minnows finish him, and find the ?avor excellent. But to see a cad in his proper uniform molested is a very rare sight indeed. When he feels the numb ness of death creeping over him, the cad draws in his six legs, and sets to work inside to weave a winding sheet and to shut the shutter, for he knows that his time is come, and there is no one to do such melancholy Offices for him. All alone in his solitary cell, the hermit works day and night, and hourly his fingers grow more feeble. We look and find the shutters closed, and by this time the larvae has changed into a pupa. The mode in which the worm closes its cell is...
