His maternal grandfather, Dr. Eleazar Wheelock, was the well-known founder of the Indian School at Lebanon, Connecticut, which was removed to the grant of land made to it in the town of Hanover, New Hampshire, where, under the name of Dartmouth College, it acquired under its first president an enviable reputation. His father removed to Hanover in 1770, and the son was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1775. He joined the army then forming for the reduction of Canada under General Montgomery and Colonel Burr. He made his home at Niagara, near the famous falls. He did the full work of a pioneer in a new country, as farmer, merchant, and lawyer. He even became a printer. His intimacy with Captain Joseph Brant gave him an intense desire to become a missionary among...
