A blend of indigenismo and folktales retold in a modern vein. . . . These stories at times seem to come from the clouds, from spirits of ancient ancestors, or from the oblique corners of the human consciousness. . . . A new and engaging duende is being born in these pages. Alejandro Murguía, author of This War Called Love If Chagall had written, he would have painted words in the fierce brushstrokes of irene lara silvas stories. If Remedios Varo had told stories, she would have wound the tendrils of her magic the way irene lara silva paints her world. Cecile Pineda, author of The Love Queen of the Amazon Rooted in a Chicana Latina indigenous geographic and cultural sensibility, the stories in flesh to bone are concerned with borders of all kinds and the potential for transformation and healing. The nine stories in write and rewrite myth from a womans of view, as they tell stories of women and children whose lives are shaped by the social, political, ecological, and economic disruption and violence of the borderlands.
