An excerpt from the second chapter: Practical Occultism is a method of realizing the deeper psychological and spiritual life potentially existent within every creature, and which bears a practical significance to the daily experience of ordinary life. Higher truth, vision and life are not only for the great and eventful occasion; they should as well serve in every moment, even the most commonplace; for it is only as the psychological life becomes the normal every-day life that the path can be trodden and the goal finally reached. Above all, to understand such a practical view of occultism we must get away from the obsolete, perverted conception of occultism which obtained in those earlier days when interpretation of the occult had its first apostolate in the Blavatsky coterie. With the coming of Oriental philosophers and psychologists to this country, and with the efforts of scientific investigators such as Muller, Carus, Rhys-Davids, Oldenburg and others, a higher understanding of the truly occult was given expression. The sham side, the element of the ominous and of the mystery-mongering, was divested of its meaning and influence and for it was substituted that religio-psychological definition which is to-day accepted by leading thinkers. Occultism is the modern revelation and symbolism of an ancient and well-guarded system of psychological philosophy involving a knowledge of psychology in comparison with which our modern psychology is relatively less fundamental. Occultism finds its greatest significance in the attainment of self-knowledge, that attainment which was suggested by the Greek of Pre-Socratic times. This self-knowledge is not merely a metaphysical conception of the nature of man. It has nothing to do with philosophy, for it is purely psychological. It is a psychical discovery...
