Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A New Study of English Poetry The greater part of the twelve essays contained in this volume will be recognised by those who have attended the lectures of the Professor of Poetry at the Royal Society of Literature. One was originally delivered at Newcastle-on-Tyne as the Spence-Watson Memorial Lecture, another at University College, London, and a third before the English Association. To make them fitting parts of a book some alterations of a formal kind were necessary: but it was not possible, nor would it, I think, have been desirable, to avoid a certain amount of repetition. Logically, perhaps, it should be enough to state a principle once, and leave the reader to apply it for himself on each subsequent occasion. But this would involve a more prolonged effort than an author of to-day could venture to ask of his reader: it seemed, in every way but the way of logic, better to make each chapter complete in itself, and therefore intelligible even when read out of its order. This course was also more consistent with the intention of the book, which, in spite of its professorial origin, claims only to be suggestive and not authoritative. Its whole argument is, in fact, against academic and scholastic authority. It appears entirely convincing to the writer, but only because it gives, so far as he can see, a scientific explanation of the facts concerning Poetry.
