From Library Journal: After mourning three weeks for her suddenly redundant job, Montreal's Barbara Simons throws herself into her friends' problems. Friend Susan calls in the middle of the night: estranged husband, Frank, has been murdered by someone looking for the heroin she finds in her own closet. Friend Joanne proposes infiltrating a gay cigarette smuggling ring? using Barbara as disguised boss woman? for an investigative report exclusive. Both adventures provide ample opportunity for humor, suspense, and action, while various male friends and love affairs offer lively sidelines. This first novel is strongly recommended. Copyright 1996 Reed Business Information, Inc. From AudioFile Having just lost her job, Barbara Simons is wallowing in self-pity until her friends Susan and Joanne retrieve her from her gloom. Kate Reading adeptly preserves this multi-plotted story, separately framing each character's personal dilemma. Confronted with estranged relationships, drugs, and miscellaneous dead bodies, Barbara becomes involved with situations beyond her comprehension. Reading's calm, matter-of-fact phrasing rises to the action, suspense, and humor as necessary. A mystery with comic undertones, this book makes for quick listening. B.J.L.
