By Justine Kerfoot

University of Minnesota Press, United States, 2007. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. The best way to get to know Justine Kerfoot would be to explore a northern forest with her. The next best way to know Just is on these pages. Here Justine is at her best, sharing with us her romantic and colorful, and sometimes a tad dangerous, life. --Les Blacklock Step off the Gunflint Trail, stride to a high point, and savor the view. Only the dark, cool waters and the rugged granite shores interrupt the panorama of the sweeping forest. In this engaging memoir, local pioneer Justine Kerfoot chronicled a year's worth of experiences and insights while living on the legendary Gunflint Trail. The unique month-by-month chapters of Gunflint and Kerfoot's rich memories provide a year-round view of a wilderness life that most of us glimpse only in all-too-short weekend interludes. Justine Kerfoot (1906-2001) lived on Minnesota's remote Gunflint Trail for more than six decades. She wrote of her adventures and travel in a weekly column for the Cook County News-Herald for forty-five years and is the author of Woman of the Boundary Waters (Minnesota, 1994).
