

The Faith We Confess: An Exposition of the Thirty-Nine Articles (Paperback)

By Gerald L Bray

The Latimer Trust, United Kingdom, 2009. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The Thirty-Nine Articles of Religion are one of the three historic formularies (constitutional documents) of the Church of England. Along with the Book of Common Prayer and the Ordinal they gave the church its distinctive identity at the time of the Reformation, an identity which has had a formative influence on worldwide Anglicanism. The English formularies have played an exceptionally important role in shaping the Anglican Communion and they continue to serve as reference points whenever it is necessary to think in terms of a common Anglican tradition. In the confusion caused by recent developments, it is encouraging that in many parts of the Anglican Communion some have returned to these sources to satisfy a genuine hunger for both Anglican tradition and sound Christian doctrine. It is to meet this growing demand that this book has been written. Although the Articles have had a chequered historical career, the intention of this book is to take them as they now stand and interpret what they mean for us today. Historical circumstances cannot be avoided completely and will be mentioned as necessary,...

Reviews

It is one of the best books. Better than ever, though I am quite late in starting to read this one. You won't feel monotony at any moment of the time (that's what catalogues are for regarding in the event you check with me).

The most effective publication I at any time go through. This is certainly for all those who state that there had not been a worthy work of looking at. It has been printed in an extremely straightforward way which is merely soon after I finished reading this publication where basically changed me, change the way in my opinion.
