Excerpt from The Hospital Bulletin, Vol. 11: Published Monthly in the Interest of the Medical Department of the University of Maryland; November 15, 1915 Animal experimentation has built up the science known as biology, which treats of living beings, and embraces all those branches upon which our profession is founded, viz., anatomy, physiology, histology, embryology, chemistry and physics. By study and investigation of these various branches we have become acquainted with the existence of morbid processes which affect the animal world. Then, of course, further animal experimentation had to be resorted to in order to effect a cure of these diseased conditions. One of the methods of accomplishing this is the mechanical art known as surgery. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
