Excerpt: .of cut-price competition the incentive to buy this article. Under the Clayton law a seller may select his customers, provided such selection is not unreasonable in its effect upon the trade, and the judge stated in his decision that it is beyond his comprehension how it can be unreasonable to refuse to trade with a customer who avows an intent to injure the seller. Congress could not compel anyone to part with his property against his wish, because that would deprive such person of his property for a private purpose and compel him unwillingly to contract for the sale of his property on terms not according to his will. This is not only the first case under the Clayton law, but it opens new ground on a most contentious topic; and decides it rather in accord with the wishes of merchants than of customers. The gist of the decision is the right to fix prices, choose customers and abstain from business at will. The Stevens-Ayres bill, introduced in Congress at the last session was framed for this purpose, and its supporters hope to secure its passage at this session. The bill is also known as the Stephens-Ashurst bill and it is likely to meet more and stronger friends as fast as the people of this country can be instructed as to its good points.---The Butchers 81 Packers Gazette. of May 17. It is probable that the season will close by June...
