Of all the joys that brighten suffering earth, What joy is welcomd like a new-born child. MRS. NORTON. A merry scene in the nursery at Viamede, where the little Travillas are waiting for their morning half hour with dear mamma. Mammy coming in smiling and mysterious, her white apron thrown over something held carefully in her arms, bids the children guess what it is. A new dolly for me says Vi; Im going to have a birthday to-morrow. A kite, ventured Harold. No, a balloon. A tite! a tite! cried little Herbert, clapping his hands. Pshaw! its nothing but a bundle of clothes mammys been doing up for one of you girls, said Eddie. I see a bit of lace or work, or something, hanging down below her apron. Is it a new dress for Vi, mammy asked Elsie, putting her arm about her sister and giving her a loving kiss. Yah, yah; you aint no whar nigh it yet, chillens, laughed mammy, dropping into a chair, and warding off an attempt on the part of little Herbert to seize...
