Ghosts are cameras photographing a smaller space, then a bigger space around it. The space has people in it. I, like you, am crazy about ghosts, just as they are about us. Their movements can be sudden and empathetic, with incision of nail, through a space, above or below, holding a hand, you suddenly discover a sandy interior, moving through a sensory deprivation experience, I took your hand and felt it slip from the room, when, if ever, do I get to - does anyone get to - proceed They can be left, right. By yourself or lonely. On the road or through the meadow. With internal logic, as a cat. I turned my back just once to the empty space in my bedroom and now I have a ghost named Christopher. Allison Carters narratives are virtuostic in craft and scope. Her quiet, simple lines betray a pressure and seem to boil at times. There is universal truth: And then the zeitgeist we became strictly inseparable so I thought. There is also great humor and precision, But...
