ON THE IGNITION DELAY OF JOJOBA BIO-DIESEL AND ITS BLENDS WITH GAS OIL

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | Measuring the ignition delay of jojoba biodiesel and its blends by Using Shock Tube | In this work, the ignition delay of jojoba bio-diesel and its blends with gas oil was measured. For this purpose, a shock tube test set up was designed and manufactured. It was fully instrumented for delay measurement with two piezo-electric pressure transducers, dual mode charge amplifier, data acquisition card, Laptop computer with suitable LabVIEW software. The test variables included the type of fuel, equivalence ratio, ignition temperature and ignition pressure. It was found that jojoba bio-diesel fuels exhibit a lower ignition delay than that of gas oil. Rich or lean mixtures produce long delay, whilst the minimum delay occurred near the stoichiometric mixture. Also, it was found that the ignition delay for jojoba bio-diesel blends with gas oil can be reduced considerably when the ignition temperatures and pressures increase. Moreover, a correlation was developed to predict the pressure-rise ignition delay. This correlation predicts the data well, since the values of the measured and the calculated ignition delay were in good agreement. Moreover, Arrhenius plots were made to evaluate the activation energy for each test fuel. | Format: Paperback | Language/Sprache: english | 116 pp.
