Excerpt: .every year, unless the water in the upper flume is more than four and a half feet deep. Taking this in connection with the testimony previously adverted to in regard to the use of the water prior to 1865, it must be considered as establishing the right of the proprietors of the grist-mill to the exclusive use of the water if it falls below four and a half feet in depth in the upper flume, between the first of May and the first of the succeeding March. This right, also, the defendants have infringed, and are responsible for the damage thereby occasioned. Among the questions stated in the report we find the following: Have defendants a right to use water for any other purpose than for a saw-mill? This must depend, in the present case, upon the terms of the deeds under which they hold. A construction, which would restrict the grantees to the specific use to which the water was first applied, is not to be favored for reasons which are well assigned in *Tow tellot v. Plwlp*s, 4 Gray, 370, and Ashley v. Pease, 18 Pick. 268; and it will never be adopted unless the language of the grants unmistakably indicates that it was the intention of the parties so to restrict the use of the water. Upon an examination of the conveyance here, we see nothing to base such a restriction upon, nothing to take the case out of the general...
