

Climate Change and Livelihood Pattern:A Study at Sharankhola

By Roy, Kanak Kanti

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | About to Bangladesh | Climate change induced vulnerabilities have become prime concerns all over the world including Bangladesh. The Author aims at the intense relation between the livelihood pattern and our role to manage the upcoming vulnerabilities apart from identifying the intensity or assessment of vulnerability. Sarankhola upazila, under the district of Bagerhat in Bangladesh has been taken as the selected area of this study. The Book focuses on adaptive responses and coping strategies against the present and probabilistic climatic variability and changes of livelihood in the context of Bangladesh. The Author is grateful to Almighty for completing this work successfully. He would like to express his sincere gratitude and profound appreciation to Mr. Shahnewaz Nazimuddin Ahmed, Associate Professor, Economics Discipline and Dean, Social Science School, Khulna University, Khulna for his continuous supervision, guidance, inspiration and thoughtful suggestion in completion of the work. Finally, his special appreciation goes to HEQEP (Higher Education Quality Enhancement Project) for financial assistance to accomplish the research work and also grateful to all the respondents and people of the study area. | Format: Paperback | Language/Sprache: english | 76 pp.

READ ONLINE
[9.11 MB]

Reviews

It is a single of my favorite publication. I have read and so I am sure that I will likely to study again once again down the road. I am delighted to let you know that this is basically the greatest publication we have read inside my own life and might be the best pdf for possibly.

-- Maria Morar

A must buy book if you need to add benefit. I could possibly comprehend every little thing using this created e publication. I found out this book from my dad and I encouraged this pdf to understand.

-- Georgianna Gerlach