Excerpt from The Railway Review, Vol. 35: September 26, 1896 Cotton Ropes. - Later on in certain districts, especially those in which the cotton industry prevailed, cotton ropes began to be used. These have the advantage of being more pliable than manila ropes, especially when the latter are new. The relative merits of ropes made of manila and those made of cotton have frequently been discussed; but experience has shown that, if the pulleys are properly designed and applied, and if the ropes are the proper diameter, good results are obtained, whether the ropes are made of manila or of cotton.
