How Fox News KOD The Republican Party chronicles the history of the Tea Party as a movement and as an ill fitting political party within the Republican Party. EXCERPT Anyone who follows politics knows that the Grand Old Party (GOP) is in deep trouble. The Republican Party is in total disarray and that may be an understatement. Republicans in the Senate and House snipe at each other and House members refuse to do anything constructive. Instead like lemmings being drawn to their death, they continue meet the definition of insanity doing the same thing over and over and expecting a different result by voting 43 times to defund the Affordable Care Act Obamacare. This aberrant behavior didnt happen overnight. Nor was it accidental, it wasnt. Thats not to say it was planned, it wasnt. The seeds for what is taking place in federal and state governments now were sown way back in November 2008. It started with the election of a personable, African American man with the strange, non-Anglo, sounding name, Barack Obama. Charming and intelligent with empathy for working class people, Barack Obama had caught the imagination of much of the electorate enough to win a decisive, almost landslide, victory. I may be wrong, but when Barack Obama shocked the right and the world by winning the 2008 presidential election, the right didnt know what to think or do at first. The right wing media machine hadnt kicked into gear yet. I actually had the distinct feeling that the right didnt hate Obama, yet. Not only that, but it seemed as if many right wingers were willing to give BO the benefit of the doubt and withhold judgment until he actually did something. Unfortunately,...
