The History Press Ltd, United Kingdom, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. David Ralph Martin was a cross-dressing criminal who carried out a string of sophisticated offences in the 1970s and 80s. A prolific burglar, car thief, fraudster and gunman, he possessed a deep loathing of anyone in authority. In addition, he was a master of disguise and a veritable Houdini when it came to escaping from prison. After shooting a policeman during a botched burglary, he escaped from court on Christmas Eve, 1982. When police believed him to be in a yellow Mini in the Earls Court area with his girlfriend, they opened fire, only to discover they had shot an entirely innocent man - a 26-year-old film editor named Steven Waldorf. The investigation became a cause celebre at the time, and was subsequently taken over by Scotland Yard's Flying Squad, of which the author was a member. One of the biggest manhunts in the history of the Metropolitan Police ensued, before Martin was finally arrested after dramatically fleeing down the tracks between two Underground stations. Author Dick Kirby reveals for the first time the inside story of the hunt for 'the most dangerous man in London', whose eventual arrest brought to an end one of the most contentious investigations in Met history. Reading Dick Kirby's gripping account, as only a Flying Squad insider could tell it, of the manhunt for London's most dangerous and deadly escape artist, is like watching a suspenseful cinematic thriller. And it's all true! - Joe Wambaugh, bestselling American crime writer. As usual Dick's research into this incident was outstanding. It brought back so many memories and reminded me of dedicated detectives that I served with, sadly some have since passed away. Dick has...
