RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 34 pages. Original publisher: Washington, D. C. : U. S. General Accounting Office, 2004 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)54835601 Subject: Mutual funds -- Law and legislation -- United States. Excerpt: . . . 12 Act to alter the composition and duties of many fund boards. These reforms include requiring an independent chairman for fund boards of directors; increasing the percentage of independent directors from a majority to at least seventy-five percent of a funds board; requiring fund independent directors to meet at least quarterly in a separate session; and providing the independent directors with authority to hire employees and others to help the independent directors fulfill their fiduciary duties. Under the Investment Company Act, only individuals who are not interested can serve as independent directors. Section 2 (a) (19) of the Investment Company Act defines the term interested person to include the funds investment adviser, principal underwriter, and certain other persons (including their employees, officers or directors) who have a significant relationship with the fund, its investment adviser or principal underwriter. Broker-dealers that distribute the funds shares or persons who have served as counsel to the fund would also be considered interested. However, SEC has suggested that Congress give it authority to fill gaps in the statute that have permitted persons to serve as independent directors who do not appear to be sufficiently independent of fund management. For example, the statute permits a former executive of the funds adviser to serve as an independent director two years after the person has retired from his position. This permits an adviser to use board positions as a retirement benefit for its employees. The statute also permits relatives of fund managers to serve as independent directors as...
