By Sylvester Field

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Job Trotter Job Trotter was a handsome young man, who with his widowed mother lived with her brother, a successful merchant in an eastern city. Mr. Post offered his sister a home in his family when her husband died, and his wife and only son did all in their power to make their home a pleasant one to these greatly bereaved relatives. The cousins were about the same age. Both chose mercantile life, and a course in a commercial college; after which Mr. Post took them into his employ. Mrs. Trotter mourned for her husband until her health was undermined, and she wilted like a crushed flower. After five years she, too, was laid in the grave. Job was prostrated with grief. His love for his mother was intense. She was his earthly idol, and he wondered that he could live without her.
