By J R Withers

Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Poems Upon Various Subjects The Author of these Poems, an humble individual, born of poor but honest parents at the village of Weston Colville, Cambridgeshire, is entirely self-taught; having never received any education beyond the teaching of his mother, from whom he learned to read and write when a child. He left his home at twelve years of age, to reside at Fordham, where he was placed by his father with a market-gardener, from whom he received no mental improvement. His father was a shoemaker when his boy was an infant; but from adverse circumstances was obliged to give up his little trade and home, to a person who had been his apprentice. After a few years, his mother had a small sum of money bequeathed to her; and she, being anxious to better the condition Of her son, her only son, ap propriated a. Share of it towards instructing him in the craft of shoemaking: but so small was the sum at her disposal, that for one year only could he be placed with his father s suc cessor; consequently...
