Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 92 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.2in. Excerpt from Four Letters, and Certain Sonnets, Especially Touching Robert Greene, and Other Parties by Him Abused: May I crave pardon at this instant, as well for inditing that in unworthy to be published, as for publishing that was unworthy to be indited: I will hereafter take precise order, either never to importune you more, or to solicit you for more especial cause. I was first exceeding loath to pen that is written, albeit in mine own enforced defence, (for I make no difference between my dearest friends and myself), and am now much loather to divulge that is imprinted, albeit against those whose own pamphlets are readier to condemn them, than my letters forward to accuse them. Vile acts would in some respects rather be concealed than recorded, as the darkness of the night better fitteth the nature of some unlucky birds, than the brightness of the day; and Herostratus, in a villainous bravery affecting a most notorious and monstrous fame, was, in the censure of the wisest judgments, rather to be overwhelmed in the deepest pit of oblivion, than to enjoy any relique or shadow of his own desperate glory. But Greene (although pitifully blasted, and how wofully faded!) still flourisheth in the memory of some green wits, wedded to the wantonness of their own fancy, and enamoured upon every new-fangled toy: and Pierce Pennylesse (although the Devils orator by profession, and his Dams poet by practice), in such a flush of notable good fellows, cannot possibly want many to read him; enough to excuse him, a few to commend him, some to believe him, or to credit any that tickleth the right vein, and feedeth the riotous humour of their...
