Forgotten Books, United States, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from Thirty-Third Annual Report of the Trustees of the Public Library, 1885 Their report is a sensible and thoughtful document, and will be read with interest by all friends of the institution. Of their practical suggestions but few require any comment on the part of the Trustees. The Art-room was originally set aside for the ladies reading-room, and devoted to that purpose. But after the various additions made to the art collection, so many visitors were attracted by it that it was found expedient to limit its occupation for women alone to the hours after 6 p.m. - the time when ill-disposed persons might possibly intrude. It is not understood that any complaint has been made to those in charge of the room of any incivility to ladies or young women by daylight. With regard to the character of the fiction and juveniles, purchased of late years for the Lower Hall and Branches, it should be stated that an examination of each volume has been made by a competent person before purchase, and those of questionable usefulness rejected. The new catalogue of this class of books, now passing through the press, has been subjected to critical examination for the purpose of excluding any and all volumes whose tendencies were doubtful or injurious. The public demand for this class of reading increases year by year, and one is not surprised to find that of the books published in the United States, as tabulated by the Publishers Weekly, out of a total of books issued in 1883 or a fraction over 25 per cent., were fiction and juveniles, which, in a total of in 1884, had...
