MEDITATION ON SPACE-TIME

Excelsior Publishing. Paperback. Condition: New. 236 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.5in. In Meditation on Space-Time, Leonard Seet portrays Father Lawrence's struggle between solitude and engagement to show that no man is an island--a struggle similar to Thomas Merton's. The monks love for his friends Ichiro and Camellia compels him to confront the evil Jim Whitfield while his desire to contemplate space-time draws him into the cabin in the woods. Even as Father Lawrence was hearing the stranger's confession, he dreamed of probability waves, black holes and temporal loops. He came to Gilead to search for his friend Camellia, not to hear about this penitent's vices: seducing women, framing rivals and laundering church-funds. After he had chased the penitent through the sanctuary into the church graveyard and lost the man, he found a note that revealed a connection to Camellia. When he learned that Camellia was pregnant with this man's child, he knew the time to play ostrich was over. But ever since the girl whom he had counseled, committed suicide, he preferred distancing himself from others than engaging their struggles. And ever since falling out with his best friend, he preferred contemplating the duality of space-time to sorting out his own joy and grief and love and hatred. If only he could free himself from his emotional scum. . . if only he could marshal the courage to polish off his search for enlightenment. . . He would discover the hidden identities behind each face and Camellia's helping the villain to bring him down. When faced with betrayal, he would lock himself in his cabin and struggled between retreating to his meditation on space-time and confronting the villain. He would renounce his vow and learn to equate a dollar with a cheeseburger. He would buy a gun without knowing...
