OPTIMIZATION OF URBAN LANDUSE PLANNING USING GEOINFORMATION TECHNIQUES

Optimization of Urban
Landuse Planning Using
Geoinformation Techniques

Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | Landuse planning in our Counties pose big challenges due to improper land use zoning strategies, competing and conflicting land use objectives and lack of appropriate decision support systems. This has been attributed to traditional planning approaches which use more of economic land use allocation models that do not integrate environmental concerns of the area under planning. The procedures in this book aim at optimizing urban land use planning process in the municipalities...
