Excerpt from Physical Education: A Lecture Delivered Before the Teachers of Hamilton and Butler Co. Ohio, on Several Different Occasions In speaking thus highly of the benefits of physical education, you will not, of course, mistake me so much as to suppose that I would not assign the front rank in the task you have to perform to that moral and religious training, by which you will not only make your pupils good scholars in earthly knowledge, and good citizens in the State, but by which you will render them worthy children of the Heavenly Father, and true disciples of the Heavenly Saviour.
