P., President of the Board of Agriculture, Etc., Etc., From the Royal Scottish Arboricultural Society, 23rd October 1895 A2sir, a considerable area of Crown lands has been sold in Scotland of late years, amounting in value, I think, to something like a quarter of a million, the proceeds having been invested in London ground rents. Some of us think that if invested in State forests in Scotland, it would have been an investment of greater utility to this country. But there are divergent notions as to whether the State should acquire forests for economic purposes, or for educational and experimental purposes, and I do not think we should be disposed to advocate any wide creation of State forests for economic purposes at the present moment, though I believe they will come, and should come; but a strong case, no doubt, will be presented to you for the acquisition of an area, or more than one area, for the purposes of experiment and for...
