The Saugatuck River crosses it through the middle, north and south; and the Norwalk River is in the west part. The forest trees are oak, nut tree, etc. Papulation in 1830, 1686. - United State Gazetteer, 1833. Like many of the New England villages, it is scattered and beautifully shaded with elms, maples, and syeamores. - Lossing, Field-Book of the Revolution. The geological character of the town, as throughout Western Connecticut is metamorphic. Granitic and porphyritic rocks, and especially micaccous shists, predominate. The minerals are such as are familiar in such rocks - hornblende, garnet, kyanite, tremolite, etc. In the western part of the town are deposits of magnesian limestone (or dolomite), mush of which is quite pure, though some of it contains tremolite and other impurities. The other minerals features of the town are not specially noteworthy, or of result of the...

Definitely one of the better book We have possibly read. We have read through and i also am certain that i am going to gonna study once again yet again in the foreseeable future. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
