Rutgers University Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 232 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 6.4in. x 0.6in. Randall, feminist authorbiographer of Latin American revolutionary women, documents the extraordinary stories of Nora Míselem Rivera and María Suárez Toro, disappeared by the Honduran military in 1982, and released. They are an eye-opening exception to the tragic numbers of permanently disappeared Latin Americans. The book breaks the silences surrounding this event: first, the silences around Honduras largely unexplored counterinsurgent past; second, the silencing by Central America's Left of women's progressive movements; and finally, the abusive silencing by these movements when the two denounced the gendered nature of their abductions. . . . Highly recommended. -Choice This powerfully written book allows us to feel deeply the particular as well as the universal situation of women, their ways of survival and refusal to lose their vision of economic and social justice. An important contribution to the emerging field of women and human rights, and the intricate relations established between power and gender. -Margorie Agosn, editor of A Map of Hope: Women's Writing on Human Rights, An International Literary Anthology, and Women, Gender, and Human Rights: A Global Perspective In the early 1980s, in the midst of Central America's decades of dirty wars, Nora Míselem of Honduras and María Suárez Toro of Costa Rica were kidnapped, imprisoned, and subjected to rape and other tortures. Of the nearly two hundred disappeared persons in Honduras in those years, they are, remarkably, two of only five survivors. Fourteen years after their ordeal, Suárez and Míselem's chance meeting was witnessed by Margaret Randall and is now retold in When I Look into the Mirror and See You. Through direct testimony, vivid historical narrative, and evocative photographs, Randall brings us the terror, resistance, and survival of Suárez and Míselem. The book details the...
