Emphasizing the practical applications of the Internet, the book can be used by teachers reading on their own and by trainers with trainees. After an initial consideration of what the Internet is and what it is not, both as a method of delivery for text and as a source of multimedia experiences, the book goes on to explain the potential of the Internet as a vehicle for teacher interaction and development. The main part of the text examines ways of using the Internet with students, both in class and for self-study and self-access, and as a potentially key element in course design. The photocopiable 'Task File' provides a bank of practical tasks for each chapter. There is an appendix of technical terms, as well as annotated lists of addresses of Internet sites of relevance to EFL teachers. 120 pp. Englisch.
