Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Principles and Methods of University Reform: Report of the Hebdomadal Council, With an Introduction Submitted, on Behalf of the Council On April 28, 1909, there was published by the University Press a Memorandum entitled Principles and Methods of University Reform in which, after the advantage of consultation with leading men of all parties in the University, I endeavoured to indicate the character of the problem of internal reconstruction which the University was known to be both willing and anxious to discuss, and invited the attention of the Hebdomadal Council to various proposals that had found favour with different sections of academic thought or appeared to be supported by influential opinion. The present Report contains the subsequent history of these proposals, as examined and reported upon in the first place by Committees of Council and then discussed and accepted (or modified) by Council itself: and the present Introduction, which I write on behalf of the latter body, is intended to explain the general principles upon which the Hebdomadal Council has proceeded, and the nature of the recommendations which it now submits to the University. The actual procedure adopted is made clear upon a subsequent page. Immediately after the appearance of the Memorandum in 1909 Council held a series of meetings at which, after an exhaustive discussion, a number of Resolutions were passed upon the leading proposals contained therein. By these Resolutions, which were published in the University Gazette, and are reproduced in the present Report, Council pledged itself to a definite scheme of policy upon almost every debated issue of University Reform. Committees of Council were then appointed to meet, to take evidence, and to consult...
