Createspace, United States, 2010. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 203 x 127 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .By every measure of what is right and good in World War II Germany, handsome Carl Becker should be on top of the world. Just like any teenage boy, a powerful urge to fit in drove Carl's desires to join the Hitler Youth. Too bad his vociferous, Nazi-hating father didn't agree. War seems remote until his friends join the local Meihern Hitler Youth meetings on Sunday mornings. Choosing between God and Hitler is never an option for his abusive father who is a devout Bavarian Catholic. Carl fights a battle of wills with his father and of fists with former friends. Beaten daily on the playground, Carl faces the switch when he returns home. In Nazi Germany, adolescents scramble to prove their loyalty. So it shouldn't have been a surprise that his father's critical remarks about Hitler merited a visit by the SS Black Boots. Imprisoned in the Esterwegen punishment camp, Carl endures six unbearable weeks, surviving physical trials proven to break a man's body and spirit. He leaves a stronger man. Little Marie, a friend's pesky sister, soon works her way into Carl's heart and the two become inseparable. For a short time, life seems tolerable. Desperate times in the Nazi war effort assure high military induction numbers, even taking young men fresh from Esterwegen Camp. For a short time, life seems tolerable. However, in 1944, soon after his seventeenth birthday, Carl is drafted into the Waffen SS. Soon he is sent to his first assignment, the Russian Front. His unit is sent from one impossible battle to another. With casualties expected to reach fifty percent. Doctors tattoo Carl...
