Forever hallowed be the day when God gave to the representatives of the people of these States energy and courage to declare their freedom from colonial bondage and their determination to set before the world the example of a Republican government. Forever hallowed be the day when the principles of devotion to the cause of liberty and to the rights of men triumphed over arbitrary power. Our fathers were not born free but they had virtue and energy of character to throw off the yoke of their bondage. The invaluable blessings purchased by the revolution have descended to us. We have the proud and happy reflection that we: were born free. With joy does the venerable sire, who lives to see this day behold the children whom his own valour has crowned with this honour.
