MOON RIVER

CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 262 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.6in. Gunnar Brume, a thirty-six year old adjunct professor of Late Modern History, lives a pleasantly mundane, albeit somewhat lonely existence in a city on the US East Coast, where he teaches a course on WWII at a local University. One summer afternoon, while watching the Euro Cup Final a favorite pastime an unexpected phone call abruptly upends his peaceful, solitary life, propelling Gunnar on a wild-goose chase to Berlin, Germany and onward to the Hawaiian Islands. Beguiled by Blue Paw, a young Burmese orphan with a distinct lunar personality, Gunnar travels deep into his own past, and the pasts of others, to learn the meaning of a certain illusory melody a melody that holds the secret to a bond forged in blood on the day before Operation Barbarossa, the German invasion of Soviet Russia. Hard-boiled, but with a magical twist, Moon River is the story of Blue Paw, an orphaned Burmese girl, whose preternatural ties to a young German soldier transcend the boundaries of time and the borders of countries. Moon River seamlessly merges three distinct narratives: a crime story involving a Russian Crime Syndicate and its fiendishly sophisticated exploitation of teenage girls, a war story that follows a forlorn German soldier haunted by the accidental killing of a female Russian counterpart, and finally, Blue Paws physical and metaphysical search for love and redemption that ties the three narratives together. Moon River is a multi-layered exploration of love, war, and crime that will take the reader from the slums of Berlin to the wealthiest enclaves of Hawaii, from the jungles of Burma to the battlefields of Stalingrad, from Breakfast at Tiffanys to a burial at sea. None of it may...
