RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 106 pages. LC Number: KF27 . A7684 2009a OCLC Number: (OCoLC)646188146 Subject: Military planning -- United States. Excerpt: . . . 11 things to all people, because we simply cant predict how the threat is going to change from year to year. The sea services now spend much of their time engaged in non-traditional missions, and those missions often must be carried out even farther from home than in the past. To take just one example of this, Strait of Hormuz, where two of our warships collided last week, is literally on the opposite side of the world from San Diego. So changes in the character and location of the security challenges we face by themselves would be enough to warrant a rethink of what kind of Navy we need. However, that will not be the biggest concern we have in the decade ahead. The biggest concern we will have is that our economy is in decline, and the federal government is out of money. How broke is the federal government The federal government is so broke, that during the 2 hours we will be meeting here this morning, it will spend 400 million that it does not have. It is so broke, that the federal debt has doubled to 11 trillion in just 8 years, and according to the Congressional Budget Office (CBO), it threatens to double again in the next 8 years. The federal government is so broke, that we are sustaining our defense posture, in part, by borrowing money from the country we say we are getting ready to fight. Now, how crazy is that There is no time in living memory when U. S. finances have been in such bad shape, and...
