Profit and general utility, deserves commendation, but it is a development which has been very little dependent upon chemical knowledge. More thorough knowledge Of the chemistry Of the non benzenoid hydrocarbons will surely re sult in better and less wasteful methods of refining and may lead to the conversion of petroleum hydrocarbons into other useful products by chemical methods. In the present state of our knowledge, it would be rash to prophesy what may be accomplished in this direction; but be fore much work of this kind can be done, a great deal of painstaking, systematic research in the field of the non-benzenoid hydrocarbons must be carried out which may never be utilized directly in an industrial process. The writer does not urge research in this field solely on the ground of the utility Of the possible results.
