

The Housing Bomb: Why Our Addiction to Houses Is Destroying the Environment and Threatening Our Society (Hardback)

By M. Nils Peterson, Tarla Rai Peterson, Jianguo Liu

JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY PRESS, United States, 2013. Hardback. Condition: New. New. Language: English . Brand New Book. Have we built our way to ruin? Is your desire for that beach house or cabin in the woods part of the environmental crisis? Do you really need a bigger home? Why don't multiple generations still live under one roof? In The Housing Bomb, leading environmental researchers M. Nils Peterson, Tarla Rai Peterson, and Jianguo Liu sound the alarm, explaining how and why our growing addiction to houses has taken the humble American dream and twisted it into an environmental and societal nightmare. Without realizing how much a contemporary home already contributes to environmental destruction, most of us want bigger and bigger houses and dream of the day when we own not just one dwelling but at least the two our neighbor does. We push our children to get out on their own long before they need to, creating a second household where previously one existed. We pave and build, demolishing habitat needed by threatened and endangered species, adding to the mounting burden of global climate change, and sucking away resources much better applied to pressing societal needs. Reduce, reuse, recycle is...
