Dog Ear Publishing. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Hardcover. 100 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.4in. My Father had an old guitar that a child couldn't press the strings down enough to get a clear sound, but that was challenge that came early on in my life- I didn't have a lot of things to attract or detract my attention, as you might note from the Preface and so since I seemed to have been born with a love for music, I pursued the ability to play the guitar- When I had reached the age of eighteen, I had gotten a gig on Saturday night in what was known as a Saturday Night Dance Hall - By that time I had learned how to play a steel guitar and also a fiddle enough to play for what was called Square Dancing - About two weeks before I was to graduate from high school and into a man killing hard labor environment as a future, a fella came by, heard me playing steel guitar, asked me if I would like to become the steel guitar player for his band- You can know it did not take long for me to say yes!! - That was like a pleasant dream for one facing a nightmare insofar as a hard labor jobs were the only thing available - After a little over a year, the Korean War broke out, we folded and went into Military Service - However, playing music professionally had become a part of my life and I have always been thankful for that - During my military service I began playing the Spanish guitar solely, and in later years I played country music, Western Swing, then into pop music (big band tunes) and then into progressive Jazz - And to think...
