

A Snuff-Box Full of Trees: Some Apocryphal Essays (Classic Reprint)

By William De Lancey Ellwanger

Forgotten Books. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 100 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.2in. Excerpt from A Snuff-Box Full of Trees: Some Apocryphal Essays. California gave to the world in 1849 not only the most wondrous wealth known up to that time, but also the tallest trees that ever grew toward heaven. Somewhere in the early fifties G. H. Woodruff joined the throng of gold hunters and went West to seek his fortune. So far as is known he found no gold, but, as the story runs, after a year or more of disappointments, he found himself one day in the forest primeval, forlorn and disconsolate. He threw himself on the ground, and, yielding to despair, gazed up into the treetops for help or resignation. Above him towered the big trees of the world, the grand Giganteas. You may call them, as you please, Gigantea, Washingtonia, or Wellingtonia. Their generic name is an arbitrary one, and it is still a disputed question whether they were first found and named by an Englishman or an American. No worry of nomenclature disturbed Mr. Woodruff, but he knew trees. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and...

READ ONLINE
[2.02 MB]

Reviews

It is really an remarkable ebook that we actually have ever read through. I actually have study and i also am confident that i am going to gonna study once more yet again in the foreseeable future. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

-- Ewell Rempel

Very good e-book and beneficial one. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. I am effortlessly could get a pleasure of looking at a written book.

-- Alphonso Beahan