This day is one of profound solemnity. We turn aside from the ordinary services to commemorate the mercies of God vouchsafed to this church and people, from generation to generation, through a period of ninety years. We desire to make this service expressive of our thankfulness to God for His past mercies, and to tell our children what the God of our Fathers has done in the times of old, so that they in turn may tell to others who are to follow them, the wonderful mercies of God continued. In attempting to take a retrospective and rapid review of God's dealings with this church and people during the ninety years of its existence, I feel the embarrassment, common to all who undertake such a task, for at the very outset I am reminded of the fact, that, as a historian, I am not at liberty to draw from the storehouse of fancy, nor to indulge in poetic imagination, nor to borrow the fascinating arts which impart interest to a theme. All these tempting embellishments must be sacrificed for the sake of truth, and a rigid adherence to this must be maintained in dealing with facts or incidents, as they relate to and influence each other. There is no section of the Presbyterian Church on the American continent whose history has been more interesting or more eventful than that planted in Kentucky by the early pioneers. Their elevated and indomitable spirit,...
