UN ROMAN DE THEATRE

RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 50 pages. Original publisher: Washington, DC: Peace Corps, Information Collection and Exchange, 2003. OCLC Number: (OCoLC)173176502 Subject: Small business. Excerpt: . . . A Microenterprise Training Guide for Peace Corps Volunteers Trainers Notes, continued Rewrite sections that are not applicable to the local microenterprise or training situation, Add country-specific examples and graphics, Replace names of people and places with local names, and Replace dollar amounts with the local currency to make examples realistic. Trainers Notes for each module and activities in the module are located at the end of the module. When printing copies of the modules for training participants, the Trainers Notes can easily be omitted. These notes contain: Overview of information and concepts covered in the module or activities. Time to complete the module or activities. (Check times to determine if they need to be adjusted to fit your training schedule.) Materials that should be on hand before starting the module or activities. Preparation to take place before beginning the module or activities. Debriefing the experience and processing the learnings is included to remind trainers of ideas, attitudes, and skills that may need to be highlighted or could be used to bring closure to the module or activity. During debriefing and processing, the skilled trainer works cooperatively with learners, to coach them as they reflect on what they have experienced, adapt learnings to fit the local culture, and begin to understand how their learnings can be applied during their Peace Corps service. The training participants section of each module contains key terms and knowledge, skills, and attitude objectives. Key terms include words and phrases defined as they are used in the module. A space is provided for the local language translation. Work with your...
