Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Food That God Intends for Man Of these two ways of thinking about the Bible, which is right? There is a law that decides it, namely: There are two kinds of all created things, a good and bad. Every good thing has its Opposite in a bad thing of the same kind and they are enemies. Every good plant that is useful to man has its opposite in weeds that are an abomination to man; and every good animal that is useful to man has, its opposite in beasts of prey that are anbetween right and wrong. The Creator does not say which way man shall choose; He leaves it for him to choose and rewards and punishes him according to his choice. Animals have no knowledge of good and evil, nor power to choose; they do the will of man because they are obliged to. As man has this knowledge and power he must do the will of the Creator from choice, and acknowledge the Creator his master from choice. As it is impossible for man to acknowledge anything his master (from choice without loving that object more than himself he must love his Creator with all his being. How does the Creator require man to feel toward his neighbor? Man desires horses to be peaceable and not agitate each other so that they can be useful to him. If any try to right those around them he does not want the others to fight back, but to be quiet and let him take care of the unruly ones. There is no reason to suppose that the Creator requires less of man. He requires man to love his...
