Marriage is, so to speak, a private school in which we are taught of that love of God and grow in that love of God - a love of God which says one to another, -I will accept you even if at times you frustrate me, even though you come to me with a sign on your chest, Deny yourself and wash my feet. -That is how your wife came to you. I hope you saw that. That is how your husband came to you on that day. He had on his chest the call of Christ to you: -Deny yourself and wash my feet.- Did you see it? You learn the meaning of the true love of God by going through the daily realities of life together and going to God for your strength. Then you experience that love that does not flicker like a candle, but a love which grows stronger through the trials and difficulties that God sends to you. Then you emerge from that school better equipped to love the saints outside of the classroom,...
