Not illustrated. 1897 Excerpt: . $33,548.08 for the corresponding month of August, 1896. The bare statement of the fact is sufficient. It carries its own grave suggestions. Mr. Speer last reported himself from Japan on his way to Korea, both he and Mrs. Speer in excellent health, and he as indefatigable in travel--holding meetings and private conferences--as at any previous time in this year of his absence. Later word from Oroomiah indicates that possibly the Russian movement may altogether collapse, though the fear is great that in such case the Moslems will be more bitter towards the Christians than ever. Very cheering are the notes which come from the mission field in response to the suggestion to aid the Board in its financial needs. Many of them have already given largely to aid imperiled interests on the field, but most cheerfully send their contributions to aid the Board, and with them, many affectionate expressions indicating that the missionaries feel that the officers of the Board need words of cheerful sympathy more than they themselves. Mr. Moody and Missionary Boards. A recent movement at Northfield to raise special funds for the sending out of volunteers whom the various Boards of Foreign Missions have been unable to send, was the occasion for calling out from Mr. Moody a statement unfavorable to special efforts outside of the regular missionary societies. His expressions of entire confidence in the denominational Boards, to whose conduct the enterprise of missions has been entrusted were both hearty and unqualified....
