Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from A Scale for Grading Neighborhood Conditions Another boy was reported to be living in a neighborhood with bad environment. Our investigation showed the home to have an index of 10, and the neighborhood index to be 9; both relatively low, as expected, but much more clearly understood because of the application of a systematic method of grading. In some cases our grading is not in such close agreement with the report of the probation officer as in the cases just referred to. This is not often due to differences in accuracy of observation, but to the inadequacy of such terms as good, bad, fair, poor, etc., for comparative purposes. The application of a uniform scale minimizes the need for using descriptive adjectives in stating general conditions. Our inquiries have led to the belief that the home and neighborhood grading scales furnish reliable means for expressing the conditions which they are intended to classify. Method Of Grading Neighborhoods As in the grading of homes, a personal visit is required to obtain reliable data for grading neighborhoods....
