This summer is different, though. This summer, her parents and their research partners, Mr. and Mrs. Haynes, are angling to win the world-famous F.I.S.H. Prize for Finding Inaccuracies in Science and History. With competition fierce and only a few months left until the finalists are chosen, it ll take the whole team to uncover something truly remarkable: the Kamju, a civilization hidden deep in the wilds of Uganda. Some people believe the Kamju, known for their powerful magic, are not real. Nadia s parents think they can find them. Nadia knows how important this discovery could be to her parents, but she can t shake the feeling that something is wrong. After all, wouldn t there be more than legends and whispers if the Kamju actually wanted to be found? And why are her parents being so secretive about their plans--if they find the Kamju, what happens next? Things go from weird to worse when they meet their mysterious new tour guide, Bantu. Nadia just knows that he s hiding secrets of his own, and she s determined to find out what they are.
