Excerpt from The Sigma Phi Epsilon Journal, Vol. 21: September 1924 It has been a source of great satisfaction to Billy Phillips to see the fraternity make its remarkable growth. Many times he has remarked that in the beginning the founders had hopes of a substantial growth but the reality has far surpassed their fondest expectations. This will be readily appreciated when one considers that few persons would believe that starting with a half dozen men this organization in twenty odd years would have a membership of more than and fifty chapters. The competition was sharp from the first. Of recent years there have been a great many new fraternities organized but in those days it was a most unusual event and the newcomer in the fraternity field was subjected to no small amount of ridicule, rebuffs and discouragements. Being so few upstart fraternities were radicals. They were to be taken as a jest and ridiculed out of existence. We have it upon Billy s word that in its early years Sigma Phi Epsilon - the Sacred Hearts, to use the local Richmond epithet - received their full share of what has been more modernly termed razzing. From the first the thought on the part of the founders was to make of the fraternity a national organization. But how to get a foothold was a problem. To establish branch chapters in the hands of well established locals seemed well nigh impossible. The aspiring local had but to consult Baird s Manual of College Fraternities to find a substantial number of strong, well-established fraternities whose constant growth indicated that they were inclined to favorable action upon worthy petitions. Why become the second,...
